Road to the Horse Wildcard 2013

Though Road to the Horse has a wide audience and far reaching influence, I believe it would be a tremendous opportunity (as a local to the fairly rigid Lexington, Kentucky "Horse Capital of the World" community) to simply demonstrate skills here which provide concrete evidence that there is another way. Few horsemen with that mindset have made the journey here, made use of the Kentucky Horse Park facilities, and also had a platform the equivalent of Road to the Horse to successfully prove those principals. I would very much like to help bridge that divide in the industry with the appropriate blend of info-entertainment, effective horsemanship skills, and the year-long commitment needed to undertake foundation work of a 6666 Quarter Horse.

My true interest is in helping this well bred horse get ready for its next owner through a quality transformation at his own pace, just as I conduct my training business now. I'm not looking for riches or material gain: that won't drive my relationship with your assigned 6666 Ranch Horse. Ideally, this positive experience will be another significant step to atone for the numerous mistakes made along my path with previous horses.
